TABLES WITH NOTES ON SOME ASPECTS OF LAND HOLDINGS IN URBAN AREAS

*This report entitled 'Tables with Notes on Some Aspects of Land Holdings in Urban Areas, Seventeenth Round, September 1961—July 1962' was prepared by the Indian Statistical Institute, Calcutta. The views contained in the report are not necessarily those of the Government of India*.*

CHAPTER ONE

INTRODUCTION

1.1. The survey on land holdings was carried out in the seventeenth round (September 1961—July 1962) of the National Sample Survey (NSS) in the urban areas along with that in the rural areas. The schedules of enquiry, concepts and definitions were the same in rural and urban areas. A similar survey on land holdings in the urban sector had been undertaken for the first time in the eighth round (July 1954—April 1955) of NSS, the results of which are available in an earlier report<sup>1</sup>.

1.2. In the present survey, data were collected on the operational and ownership holdings by interviewing the sample households. The data on the structure, distribution etc. of the operational holdings were required by the World Food and Agriculture Organisation (FAO) programme<sup>2</sup> and on other features of land holdings were required by the Planning Commission.

1.3. As has been mentioned in earlier reports on the rural sector<sup>3</sup> an inter-departmental committee on Agricultural Census (1960) consisting of the Planning Commission, the Central Statistical Organisation, the Indian Council of Agricultural Research, the Ministry of Food and Agriculture, the Ministry of Community Development and the Directorate of National Sample Survey set up by the Government of India, finalised the concepts and definition adopted in the survey.

1.4. All the urban areas except those in Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Laccadive, Minicoy and Amindivi Islands, Ladakh district of Jammu and Kashmir, the disturbed areas of Manipur and North East Frontier Agency were covered in the survey. The survey started in September 1961 and ended in July 1962.

1.5. It was planned to survey altogether 2237 blocks in three independent and interpenetrating samples, each of which could provide valid estimates of the characteristics. The number of sample blocks allotted to each state and those actually surveyed are given along with the sampling design (Appendix I).

1.6. The concepts and definitions have been given in Chapter Two. It may be mentioned here that the information on area owned by households was recorded plot by plot as on the date of the survey, whereas for the operational holding information on its composition, utilisation etc. was collected for the agricultural year July 1960 to June 1961. Plots possessed by the holdings for the major part (more than six months) of the agricultural year 1960-61 were enumerated and particulars of operational holdings were recorded for each of the plots. Unlike the eighth round survey, only those operational holdings were considered for survey purposes which were put wholly or partly for agricultural production. Thus operational holdings may be considered as agricultural holdings.

1.7. This report contains some features on land holdings namely, distribution of household ownership holdings and household operational holdings at the state and national levels. Some other aspects e.g., distribution of agricultural holdings, land taken on lease, joint operation, net area sown, etc. are presented at national levels only. The results of the survey were tabulated by sub-samples and estimates are presented in this report for each of the three sub-samples and also by combining the three sub-sample estimates. The divergence between the sub-sample estimates provides the margin of uncertainty of the estimates.

1.8. The Directorate of National Sample Survey, Government of India was responsible for the field work in all the States and Union Territories except in West Bengal and Bombay city where the survey was conducted by the Indian Statistical Institute. The sampling design adopted for the survey, the processing and tabulation of the data were done in the Indian Statistical Institute.

1.9. All the States excepting Madras, Mysore and West Bengal participated in the N.S.S. programme on a matching basis. Among the Union territories, only Tripura participated.

*The draft report (No. D 183) was first submitted by the Indian Statistical Institute, Calcutta, to the Government of India in March 1963. It was revised subsequently and resubmitted in June 1969.

CHAPTER TWO

CONCEPTS AND DEFINITIONS

2.1. The concepts and definitions adopted in the survey are given in the following paragraphs.

2.2. Household.—A group of persons who usually lived together and take meals from a common kitchen constituted a household. Whether a person satisfying the criterion of common messing would be considered as a member of the household or not was left to the discretion of the head of the household. Temporary absentees who were considered by the head of the household as members of the household were included while persons like, domestic servants, private tutors, paying guests, etc. were not treated as members of the household.

2.3. Ownership of land.—The ownership right over a plot of land was defined as the right of permanent heritable possession with or without the right to transfer the title. Land held in owner-like possession directly from the Government or from others under a long term lease or assignment was also considered as land owned by the household. Land owned or held in owner-like possession by households was classified as follows :

- (a) land held directly from Government under a grant, lease or assignment with right of permanent and heritable possession with or without the right to transfer title ;
- (b) land held from persons other than Government with right of permanent and heritable possession with or without the right to transfer title.

2.4. Household ownership holding.—A household ownership holding was constituted by all plots of land, cultivable or not owned by the household. In case a plot was owned jointly by two or more households, only sample household's share was taken into account.

2.5. Land leased out.—All land owned by a household might not be under its physical possession. The household might lease out land owned by it without losing the ownership right. Land owned but not under the physical possession of the household was taken as land 'leased out' by the household.

2.6. Operational holding.—An operational holding was constituted by all lands used wholly or partly for agricultural production and was operated by the person, alone or with the assistance of others, without regard to title, size or location. The holding might consist of one or more parcels of land provided they were situated in the same State and came under the purview of same technical unit. Thus an operational holding was fully defined when the 'person' operating it and the distinct 'technical unit' associated with the work of the holding were identified. A 'person' in the definition refers to a single household or a number of households operating jointly. By technical unit was understood, in the context of agricultural operations, an economic unit with more or less independent technical resources, etc. covering items like land, implements, livestock, etc. If more than one 'person' had operated land using more or less the same technical resources, the number of holdings in such cases was considered to be the same as the number of 'persons' involved though the technical units were almost the same. On the other hand, number of technical units was taken as the basis for determining the number of operational holdings in cases where under the same 'person' there were more than one distinct technical unit. A holding constituted by lands put to non-agricultural uses only or used exclusively as pastures or for livestock raising or production of livestock products and/or pisciculture was excluded from the scope of the survey.

2.7. Agricultural production.—Agricultural production included the growing of field crops, fruits, grapes, nuts, seeds, tree nurseries (except those of forest trees), bulbs, vegetables and flowers, both in open and under glass, production of coffee, tea, cocoa, rubber, the forest production in parcels of land which formed part of the enumeration holding and the production of livestock and livestock products, poultry and poultry products, honey, rabbits, fur-bearing animals, silk-worm cocoons, etc. on land forming part of the enumeration holding.

2.8. For the purpose of the survey, a household was considered to possess at least one operational holding if it had undertaken some 'agricultural production' individually or jointly with other households during the reference period. An operational holding might possess land owned as well as land leased in by the management of the holding.

2.9. Household operational holding.—The aggregate of areas under different operational holdings possessed by a household was taken to be the household operational holding for the particular household. In the case of joint operational holdings managed by more than one household, only sample household's share was taken into account, the share being determined on the assumption that the measure of area contributed by co-partner households was the same.

2.10. Working person.—A person was considered as working, if he or she was engaged in gainful activities either as employer, employee, single worker or household worker.

CHAPTER THREE

SOME RESULTS OF THE SURVEY

3.1. Some of the more important features of land holdings in urban areas have been summarised in this chapter. For this purpose, the estimates based on the total sample have been used. The appendix on statistical tables presents all the tabulated results for each of the three independent sub-samples as well as the combined sample and all the results are given by size of holdings. Since a similar survey had been carried out in the eighth round, the results have been quoted wherever possible, alongside the seventeenth round estimates for purposes of comparison.

3.2. A summary of the important characteristics e.g., land owned, operated, taken on lease, leased out etc. is presented in Table (3.1).

3.2.1. Household holdings.—The household ownership holding was on the average 1.29 acres in size, reporting thereby only a slight decrease compared to the eighth round. 55 percent of the households were landless. The extent of leasing out of owned land was reportedly on the decrease, 28 percent against about 49 percent in the eighth round, though the percentage of households leasing out land somewhat increased between the rounds.

The average size of a household operational holding was a meagre 0.91 acre, if all the households including those operating no land or land less than 0.005 acre were considered. 9 percent of the operated area was taken on lease compared to 20 percent in the eighth round.

17th round : September 1961-July 1962

3.2.2. Operational holdings.—The agricultural holding in the urban areas was 7.49 acres on the average. Whereas in the seventeenth round, only those operational holdings were taken into account, part or whole of which were put to agricultural production, the eighth round covered all the holdings. The estimates of the two rounds, thus being not comparable are not presented in the above table.

3.3. Size distribution of household ownership holdings.—The distributions of household ownership holdings and area owned over the scale of holding sizes show an extreme concentration of land amongst a few. Three-fourths of total number of households each owning less than 0.05 acre, together owned only 0.3 percent of total owned area. 84 percent of the households, each owning less than half an acre or having no land had together a meagre 1.25 percent of total owned area. On the other hand, a little more than 3 percent of the households, each owning 10 acres or more together claimed 69 percent of total owned area in urban areas. The pattern of size distribution had not undergone any appreciable change during the period intervening eighth and seventeenth rounds.

3.4. Ownership and operation of land in the States.—In Table (3.3), the average sizes of household ownership and household operational holdings for different States are given. Also the percentage of households owning no land, those operating no land and the percentages of households neither owning nor operating land are presented.

Households in the States of West Bengal, Assam and Jammu and Kashmir owned on an average very small-sized holding, e.g., 0.33, 0.45 and 0.48 acre respectively. Only a few States like Rajasthan, Maharashtra and Orissa claimed an average size above 2 acres. The proportion of landless households was comparatively higher (64 to 72%) in Assam, West Bengal and Maharashtra than in other states, although by and large, quite a substantial proportion of the urban households in all the States was landless. And therefore, the average ownership holding increased, if these households were ignored.

In the States of Assam, West Bengal and Punjab, 95 percent or more operated no land in urban areas. In all the States this proportion was substantially high (82 percent or more) excepting in Kerala where 49 percent operated no land. The average size of household operational holding was very low for most of the States but gets increased considerably, if only households operating land are considered.

3.5. Internal consistency of results.—As has already been mentioned, sub-sample-wise estimates for different characteristics have been presented in the Appendix on statistical tables. An examination of the tables would reveal that for many characteristics, the estimates pertaining to different sub-samples agree fairly well at the national level. The estimates in regard to some states are however, to be used with caution, as the agreement between the sub-samples is not good for some items.

APPENDIX I

SAMPLING DESIGN AND ESTIMATION PROCEDURE

1. The urban areas in India were divided into two sectors, sector 1 consisting of towns and cities with 1951 census population 50,000 and above and sector 2 consisting of the remaining areas. The design of the survey on land holdings was a stratified multistage one. The sample was selected in the form of 3 independent sub-samples of equal sizes. A two-stage design with urban blocks as the first stage and households as the second stage units was adopted for sector 1 towns. In sector 2 areas, the design was a three stage one with towns, blocks and the households as the first, second and third stage units. Each state within a sector formed a stratum, thus resulting in all states<sup>1</sup> having two strata each. The total number of strata was thirty five.

2. The allocation of sample blocks to sectors 1 and 2 was made approximately in the ratio 2 : 1 and within each sector, the allocation to each state<sup>2</sup> was made in proportion to its urban population in that sector. The final allocations to the States after being modified to take into account the investigator strength available, were rounded off to multiple of 18.

3. In each stratum of sector 1, three independent sub-samples of one-third of the number of blocks allotted were selected systematically with independent random starts, the frame being the list of blocks prepared by the NSS in the Urban Frame Survey (UFS). As regards sector 2, before selection, the towns within each region<sup>3</sup> were arranged according to their means of livelihood. Three independent systematic (circular) samples of towns of one-third of the allotted sample to the stratum were selected with probability proportional to the number of 1951 census block in them<sup>4</sup>. Within each selected town, one block was selected with equal probability, using the UFS list of blocks, or the 1961 census list of blocks, if the UFS list was not available<sup>5</sup>.

4. In case of a large block, the investigator was allowed to divide it into compact and identifiable sub-blocks of roughly equal population content and select one of them with equal probability for survey purposes.

5. All the households in a selected block were grouped into three second-stage strata e.g., stratum 1—landless households stratum 2—households owning less than 5 acres and stratum 3—households owning 5 acres or more. A circular systematic sample of 2 households each was drawn from each of these three second-stage strata.

Estimation Procedure

6. The State total  $\hat{T}$  of any characteristic  $x$  as obtained from a particular sub-sample was estimated as :

$$\hat{T} = \sum_s \frac{N_s}{n_s} \sum_{l=1}^{N_{sl}} l_{sl} D_{sl} \sum_{r=1}^3 \frac{H_{sl}^{(r)}}{h_{sl}^{(r)}} \sum_{j=1}^{k_{sl}^{(r)}} x_{slj}^{(r)}$$

where the subscript  $r$  stands for the  $r^{\text{th}}$  second stage stratum &  $s$  denotes the  $s^{\text{th}}$  sector.

And

$N_s$  = total number of blocks in  $s^{\text{th}}$  sector of the State.

$n_s$  = number of sample blocks in  $s^{\text{th}}$  sector of the State in a sub-sample.

$l_1 = 1$  for all sector 1 towns/cities.

$= \frac{b_i}{b_i}$  for all sector 2 towns where,

$b_i$  = number of 1951 census blocks in the  $i^{\text{th}}$  town used for selection of town.

<sup>1</sup>excepting Maharashtra which had three strata e.g., Bombay city, all other sector 1 towns and all sector 2 towns.

<sup>3</sup>in each state regions were formed by grouping contiguous districts having similar crop pattern and population densities.

<sup>4</sup>excepting Tripura where selection was done with probability proportional to number of 1961 census blocks in them.

<sup>5</sup>When neither UFS nor 1961 census list of blocks was available at the ISI, the investigator was asked to select one block at random from the 1961 census list of blocks available at headquarters or, if that was not available from the municipal divisions within the town.

$b_i$  = number of UFS/1961 census blocks in the  $i^{\text{th}}$  town used for selecting blocks within town.
 $D$  = number of sub-blocks formed in a block,
 $= 1$ , if no artificial block selection was done.

7. The all-India aggregate estimates for a sub-sample for different characteristics were obtained by adding the State estimates. The combined estimate was obtained by taking the arithmetic mean of sub-sample estimates.

8. Number of blocks and households surveyed.—Table (1) gives the number of sample blocks allotted to different States and the number actually surveyed. The number of households surveyed are also given.
