This report was prepared by NSS Organisation under the guidance of the Governing Council for NSS Organisation. The views contained in the report are necessarily those of the Government of India.

FOREWORD

In addition to releasing of survey reports the National Sample Survey Organisation as from time to time catered to the special needs of statistical data arising from various agencies. The present report on Consumer Expenditure for Cultivator Households (rural) was prepared to meet the data requirement of the Ministry of Agriculture for the construction of consumer price indices of cultivator households.

In accordance with the specifications laid down by the Ministry, estimated per capita expenditure of nearly 115 items of household consumption and their percentages to total consumer expenditure have been presented in the report. This will provide the required weighting diagrams for the indices of consumer prices proposed to be prepared by the Ministry. The data used for the purpose relate to the NSS 26th round (July 1971 to June 1972) consumer expenditure survey. From among the total rural households, only the household-reporting cultivation as a principal occupation were selected for tabulation.

The sample design and schedule of enquiry were prepared by the Survey Design & Research Division (SDRD) of the NSSO. The field work of the survey was done by the Field Operations Division (FOD). Processing of the data was the charge of the Data Processing Division (DPD) of NSSO.

The report was finalised by Shri K. P. Chatterjee, Assistant Director of the SDRD. S/Shri A. B. Roy Chowdhury, Deputy Director, N. R. Dhar, N. N. Sarkar, M. G. Bhattacharjee, Assistant Director of the Data Processing Division of the NSSO were in technical charge of processing the data. The overall supervision was done by S/Shri I. B. Dey, A. Moitra, A. Mookerjee and K. Prasad in card punching; S. N. Das, N. K. Dey, K. C. Poddar, F. M. Rao and N. Sinha in machine tabulation; A. K. Chowdhury, S. Palit, D. Sarkar and G. R. Varnwal in Computation work.

It is due to the co-ordinated efforts of these officers that this special report could be brought out in time without causing any dislocation in the normal programme for release of NSS reports. The typing of the report was done by Shri A. Roy.

INTRODUCTION

1. The data on household consumer expenditure were collected through Schedule 1.0 in the 26th round for the entire population of rural and urban areas. This Schedule was meant for collecting detailed information on the expenditure incurred by the sample household for domestic consumption purposes for a period of 30 days preceding the date of survey. From these data a special tabulation for obtaining weighting diagram in respect of the index of consumer prices for farmer households was required by the Ministry of Agriculture. The farmer household was defined as to cover only the occupation group code 61 of National Classification of Occupations, 1968.

2. Per capita expenditure on about 115 items of consumption including total and sub-totals, and the percentage of expenditure on each item to total domestic expenditure which are presented here, provide the necessary data required by the Ministry. In addition, sample number of reporting households and the percentage distribution of estimated number of reporting households for each item are presented. The results of the different states and all-India which were brought out earlier through NSSO draft reports* number 263/1 to 263/5, are presented in a consolidated form in this report. Only the cultivator households among the total rural households i.e., households which reported occupation group code 61 (NCO) as their household occupation were included for the purpose of this report.

3. The survey was conducted during the period July 1971 to June 1972. The reference period for collection of data on consumer expenditure was 30 days preceding the date of survey.

4. The sample design was a stratified two-stage one with village as the first stage and household as the second stage units. The number of sample villages was 4200 at all India level.

5. The estimates presented here are based on Central Sample only.

SAMPLING DESIGN AND METHOD OF ESTIMATION

RURAL SECTOR

General.—The sampling design in the rural sector was stratified two-stage in which the first-stage units were villages and the second stage units were households from which information was collected. The design was self-weighting at the region and sub-stratum level.

Stratification.—The country was divided into 66 agricultural regions by grouping, within each state or union territory, districts having similar population density and crop pattern. Within each region, strata were formed by grouping tehsils which were (i) contiguous, (ii) having similar crop-pattern, population density and altitude, and (iii) having good transport and communication facilities amongst them. The number of persons engaged in agricultural occupations was more or less the same for all strata within a region. Stratification was done in almost all the states by using the tehsil-wise crop area figures and information of transport facilities compiled by the field staff. The number of strata formed within a state/union territory was given by the number of sample villages allocated to it divided by 12. The total number of rural strata was 379.

Allocation.—The total sample size of 4200 villages was allocated to the different states/union territory on a joint consideration of their rural population, area under cereal crops and the available investigator strengths. These allocation were modified to ensure a minimum of 180 villages in a state excepting some smaller states and the union territories. The allocations were finally rounded off to multiples of 12 in order to facilitate selection of 2 sub-samples of 6 villages in each stratum.

Selection of villages.—The 1961 census list of villages was used as the sampling frame for selection of villages. Two independent sub-samples of 12 villages each were selected circular systematically with equal probability in each stratum. In each sub-sample, the villages with odd orders of selection formed the central sample and those with even orders of selection formed the state sample. The unit of selection was the 1961 census villages but the revenue village corresponding to the selected census village was the unit of survey. In case a sample village was too large for investigation purposes the village was subdivided into two or more parts of nearly equal population (called hamlet groups) by grouping hamlets of that village and one of these groups was selected with equal probability. The survey for that village was restricted to the hamlet or group of hamlets thus selected.

Selection of households.—All the households in the sample village/hamlet group were divided into four sub-strata on the basis of land possessed. The households of the first sub-stratum (households without any possessed land under agricultural use) were arranged by their means of livelihood in three classes viz. (i) agricultural labourer, (ii) artisan, and (iii) others. The cut-off points between strata 2, 3 and 4 were decided for each region separately by roughly equalising the total area operated in those classes in that region. For schedule 18-series, on an average 3 households were sampled linear systematically from each sub-stratum in each sample village. For schedule 1.0 (consumer expenditure), on an average one household was sampled from each sub-stratum from amongst the households selected for schedule 18-series in a village. Only the cultivator households among those selected for schedule 1.0 were considered for calculating the estimates given in this report.

Work Programme.—The survey period for the whole round was one complete year divided into two sub-rounds of six months each. Each sample village was visited and surveyed (only once in the whole round), in the sub-round allocated to it.

Estimation Procedure.—The estimates presented in the report are, in general, estimates of rates and ratios like per person expenditure on different items of consumption or expenditure on a particular item expressed as a percentage to total consumer expenditure. The estimates referred to are obtained by dividing the estimate of total of one characteristic by the estimate of total of another characteristic. The procedure of estimation of the 'total' of a characteristic is explained below :

Let,

- $i$  denote the  $i^{\text{th}}$  sub-stratum within a sample village
- $j$  denote  $j^{\text{th}}$  sample village/selected part of the village
- $k$  denote  $k^{\text{th}}$  sample household
- $k$  denote no. of strata in the state

(vi)

- $n_s$  : denote no. of sample villages in a sub-sample of the  $s^{\text{th}}$  rural stratum for the whole round.
 $h$  : denote no. of households selected for the enquiry.
 $y$  : value of the characteristic for cultivator households
 $M_{st}$  : denote the constant multiplier for the  $s^{\text{th}}$  stratum and  $t^{\text{th}}$  sub-stratum (Actually for a given sub-stratum, the multiplier is same for all rural strata within particular region).

Let  $\hat{Y}$  denote the estimate of the state total of variable  $y$  based on a sub-sample and the whole round.

Then, the estimate

$$\hat{Y} = \sum_{t=1}^4 \sum_{s=1}^k M_{st} \sum_{i=1}^{n_s} \sum_{j=1}^{h/h_t} y_{stij}$$

The sum over  $j$  extends over cultivator households only.

Combined estimates.—If  $\hat{Y}_i$  ( $i=1, 2$ ) be the sub-sample estimate of the total of a characteristic, the combined estimate is given by

$$\hat{Y} = \frac{1}{2}(\hat{Y}_1 + \hat{Y}_2)$$

If the ratio  $R = \frac{Y}{X}$  can be estimated by  $\hat{R}_i = \hat{Y}_i / \hat{X}_i$  from the  $i^{\text{th}}$  sub-sample then the combined estimate is given by

$$\hat{R} = \frac{\hat{Y}}{\hat{X}} = \frac{\hat{Y}_1 + \hat{Y}_2}{\hat{X}_1 + \hat{X}_2}$$
